Questions Explored:

Is there a deeper side to living?

Where is God?

Is there something about being Marist which attracts you?

How can Mary be a model?

Can you be a lay person and be Marist?

Do you think community is important?

Does going on an immersion to a 3rd world country inspire you?

It Takes Time
Explores the nature of our busy life, yet our need to find something within our lives which speaks to us of a deeper meaning of who we are.

Where is God
Often, God seems absent. Where can we find God. Is God really there? Are we searching in the right places?

What is Spirituality
There is a part to every human being which breathes life into every moment. This spirit connects us to each other, to our life, and to mystery.

Mary in the Gospels
Mary is largely absent from the Gospels. Yet she plays a very important part in the life of the story of Jesus and God. Why is Mary absent yet present? How does this speak to us today in our own important part?

The First Marists
The first Marists were called by God in a time just after the French revolution. The French revolution sought to destroy religion, yet the first Marists chose to risk everything for a greater call.

Marist Dream Today
In our busy world we are called to be Marist. What does this mean for lay people today? How does that fit into my life?
